CLASS PROPHECY

Hello, baseball fans, this is Hughes Cheatwood broadcasting the celebrated game between the Martin College Alumni of 1940 and the undefeated team of 1950. This is my first visit to my Alma Mater since I became sports editor on the New York Times, and I feel greatly honored at being called to broadcast this memorable game. A large crowd from near-by towns and distant cities has come to witness this spectacular sports event—spectacular because on the alumni team are men of national importance.

tance.

There is Bob Hamby, who is making good in the civil engineering field in his home state, Washington.

W. B. Brandon is a well-known traveling salesman. You remember that line, girls?

Gil Fuqua is pitching now for the Boston Red Sox, so naturally he is a great asset to this illustrious team. Wilbur Hooper is one of the best-loved ministers in the Tennessee Conference. It is good to see him here to play.

to play.

James Abernathy, the coach who has led Vanderbilt to many victories, is our first baseman today.

"Pete" Gooch, who is now coaching here at Martin with his wife, whom we knew as "Shorty" Bryan.

J. B. Hunter, who has become a prominent surgeon in a New York hospital, is accompanied by his vivacious wife, Juanita, and his son, John Beecher, Jr.

All you who read the New York Times are familiar with Bob Cooper's scathing editorials. His latest is "Down with Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Garland Tipps, who sings Wagnerian roles at the Metropolitan, now spends his spare time urging that famous novelist and short-story writer, Frances Frater, to become his wife. (Confidentially, I think she is weakening.) weakening.)

to become his wife. (Confidentially, 1 think sne is weakening.)

John Ed Lay had to give up being a principal. The kids thought he was their age. He is very successful now as a baby star at M. G. M.

Thomas Gault, water boy for the New York Giants, has come down to carry on here in that capacity.

Sloan Jobe, that well-known (but for what) umpire, is calling the game. Don't worry, folks. He has his bodyguard with him.

That is the line-up, fans. As it is still ten minutes before the game starts, I think I will gve you a picture of some of the other alumni on the side lines.

I see Alice McMahon, who is supervisor of a leading hospital in Cleveland, Ohio. With her are Sybil Baker and Elise Black, who are taking advantage of their basketball experience at Martin and are now playing with the Little Rock Fliers. Then there is Sarah Condra, who has filled Kate Smith's place perfectly since Kate has gotten too old to sing.

gotten too old to sing.

Sara Elizabeth Allison and Parson Perry are married and will set sail soon to Brazil, where they will teach in a mission school.

and will set sail soon to Brazil, where they will teach in a mission school.

The Dover girls are getting excited at seeing everyone again. I can hear them from here. Geneva and Robbye Keel are co-dietitians at the Dover Hospital, while Edna Mae Wofford is a much-photographed model.

On the other side of the field, surrounded by an admiring crowd, is Miss Drusilla Poole, who is now head of the National Confederated Stump Speaker, and is swamped with engagements during the presidential election. I am not surprised to learn that Peggy Robinson has developed her talent as an artist and has become one of the most prominent sculptresses of today. She is here with Mildred Cayce and her husband, W. C. Crews, are collaborating on a school for wayward children, and, speaking of wayward children, there are five here in my booth. I am trying to fight them off. Ah, here comes their mother, Mary Katherine Kelly, who is accompanied by the well-known doctor, her husband, who is on furlough from Poland.

Kathryn Young is here. She has become dietitian at a boys' school and is interested only in her work.

Flora Pearl Elkins owns Pulaski's most modern beauty shop.

Lucille Cannon has become a comedienne and is known as the second Gracie Allen.
Lucy Will and Sarah Frances Case hold, respectively, the chairs of Education and Latin at Stephens College. They spend their time discussing the Einstein theory and other simple subjects with Anna June Meroney, who is located near there in social service work.

Mary E. West married Ed Eslick and settled down with him and her shewing cut.

Mary E. West married Ed Eslick and settled down with him and her chewing gum.

Mary M. Etheridge is teaching at the Chicago Conservatory of Music.

Ruby James and Lorene Springer have been proclaimed the world's champion tennis team.

Mary Elizabeth Clark has run Mr. Kuhn out of business with her new shop, where she serves Martin special "slurps" to the college students.

Frances Everly is traveling now with her husband, a prosperous businessman.

Aileen Ashford is now Mrs. Giles Campbell. She had to give up her school to devote all her time to her three curly-headed children.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Wofford are a well-known evangelistic team now.

Mary Phillips Daly cannot make up her mind, so she settled down to life as an old maid.

Is that Douglas Gunselman I see with all those children? Yes, it is. Whew! He is a well-known leader of young people in the Methodist Church.

Geneva Bailey is here with her prosperous husband, Lib Snith, from Lawrenceburg.

I see Alma Ruth Wheeler, who is professor of science here at Martin College, talking to Betty Haywood, who has finally gotten her degree, and now gives full time to husband hunting. June Davis, who is married to Francis, is coming up to speak to them. She still has that worried look on her face.

Wilma Blair, that famous woman lawyer, is talking to Elwyn Jennings, probably about Elwyn's divorce, which will be final soon. Dorothy Maxwell is with Elwyn, of course. Dot is the efficient secretary to Mr. Harlon Watson, a member of the Methodist Board of Missions.

Baxter Jones has become an evangelistic singer.

Looking around him, I see Barbara Hagan, now known to Broadwayites as the second Helen Hayes.

Margaret Allen and Sarah Dene Westbrook are home demonstration agents in their counties.

Edith Pope and Alyne Rutherford are teaching the younger generation.

Velma Henry, the girl who could not be had, has fallen at last and is engaged to a preacher in the Texas Confe ference. Ruth Gunn has discovered a marvelous substitute for dynamite. Catherine Charles is a model for bathing suits in Flor-

Catherine Charles is a model for patning suits in Florida. She likes Florida.

Elizabeth Troxler is teaching mathematics and French at the New Normandy High School in Bedford County.

Minnie Lee Shores is singing with Fred Waring's Glee

Carolyn Wagstaff has given up her career as ballet dancer to marry Gene Liggett.

My time is about up, but here is Nancy Garner, who is married to Duff Creson. She is teaching the "unknown tongue" in Miss Mac's place.

That is all, folks. There is the signal and the game is beaun.

CLASS HISTORY

The first thing most of us remember when we came to Martin was the "get-acquainted" party in the gym. When we entered school, September 14, 1938, we had eagerly been looking forward to the joys of college life, but we may have been a little disappointed when we had experienced a few of the conflicts and headaches that come with registering as a freshman. But as we trudged deeper into college life we found that it wasn't all "headaches" and conflicts, but new friends, new social adventures, and a new and fuller life.

There were many treasures to be found along the way: football and basketball; banquets, especially the Phi Theta Kappa, "Y," and Junior-Senior banquets; recitals, picnics, plays, and last but not least the annual May Festival. Then before we realized it June 2 had rolled around and our first year of college life had come and gone.

But time surely does fly, and on September 16, 1939, we were ready to start again. Some of our old members had dropped out, but we had new ones to enter. But we were the upperclassmen, the big shots, of Martin so we had to help the freshmen along as they had helped us.

This year we saw interscholastic sports take wings and rise at Martin. A successful season in the Mississippi Valley Conference competition. Again we saw plays, attended banquets, and the senior class of 1940 is proud to have been in the hands of student government at Martin. Government of the students, by the students, and for the students. Probably our biggest obstacle of the year was this masterpiece, The Cardinal, but somehow with the steady working of the sponsors and students, and the appreciation shown by our advertisers, we managed to succeed.

Well, I suppose it would be well to continue our college life, but now it is June 2, again, and I suppose it might be proper to tell you what happened to us, a very unexpected thing—we graduated.

Last Will and Testament of the

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of Martin College, city of Pulaski, county of Giles, state of Tennessee, being unsound in mind and memory, do hereby make, publish, and declare this instrument to be our last will and testament, disposing of all scholastic goods in manner and form as follows:

First—To our sponsors, Miss Jo Chapman and Coach Charles Davis, we, the senior class of 1940, leave our best wishes and appreciation for their loyal support in helping make our senior year a success.

Second—To the faculty, we leave our thanks for the good advice given us (even though at times we didn't want it).

Third-To the junior class we will our good reputation and all poor grades provided they will keep them and hand them on to the next class.

Fourth-To the incoming junior class, we will our knowledge of college life, in hopes that they will not make all the mistakes we have.

- I, Margaret Allen, leave my friendly disposition to Fred Winton.
- I. Sara Elizabeth Allison, leave the school a better place
- I, Aileen Ashford, leave college, "hoping it won't be long now."
- I, Geneva Bailey, leave my point making ability in basketball to Mivian Barnes.
- I, Elise Black, leave my beauty to Mary Carolyn Lumpkins providing she does not win more than two contests
- I, Juanita Blackwell, leave my baby talk to Nancy Eslick so she can throw it out the window.
- I, Wilma Blair, leave my beautiful hands to Richard Downing so he won't get lonesome for Alice's.

 I, W. B. Brandon, leave, without understanding women.
- I, Mary Elizabeth Bryan, leave my magnetic personality "Red" Miller. (Put with his, he should have something there.)
- I, Lucille Cannon, leave my navy buttons to anyone who is lucky enough to be a navy "Drag."
- I, Lucy Will Case, leave my place in the Phi Theta Kappa to Zollie Webb. It will be his only chance.
- I, Sarah Frances Case, leave all my book reports to Mr. Woods, hoping he can find more use for them than I could.
- I, Mildred Cayce, leave my job in tearoom to Jack Wilkes.
- I, Catherine Charles, leave my "gift of gab" to any D. G. D. member that will have it.
- I, Hughes Cheatwood, leave my sports-writing ability to Parks Farrar. (He should be good for something.)
- I, Mary Elizabeth Clark, leave my spare time to Brown Breece so he won't have to get up before the sun to do his
- I, Sarah Condra, leave quite a space in the basketball line to Catherine Brown.
- Bob Cooper and Sybil Baker leave together.
- I, Mary Phillips Daly, leave my art of talking all the time and never finding a place to stop to Kathryn Hollman.
- I, Mary Minerva Etheridge, leave with fond memories of the class of '40.
- I, Frances Everly, leave my dry wit to Edgar Ballentine for use in all of Mr. Phillips' classes.
- I, June Davis, leave my room in Tennessee Hall to Louise Hulme who has helped me enjoy it.
- I, Flora Pearl Elkins, leave my textbooks to Meda Adkins. They always were too much for me to carry.
- I, Frances Frater, leave my way with Garland to his future pupils at Raysville School.
 - I, Gil Fuqua, leave my love to Mildred.
- I, Nancy Garner, leave my winning smile in the memory of all who knew me.
- I, Thomas Gault, leave my football managing ability to J. W. Argo.
- I, Ruth Gunn, leave my ability to roll Coca-Cola bottles down steps of Tennessee Hall and getting by with it to Virginia Garner. Be careful, Virginia.
- I, Douglas Gunselman, will my cave-man actions to E. B. Noles.

- I, Bob Hamby, leave my sympathy to next year's senior class president.
- I, Betty Haywood, leave my interest in the Honey Club to anyone who can get out there.
- I, Velma Henry, will my job in the library to Mary June Hickerson.
- Wilbur Hooper, grudgingly leave two pounds of hair
- Henry
- I, Barbara Hagan, leave, willingly.
- I, Ruby James, leave my black hair to Helen Click in case hers ever changes color.
- I, Elwyn Jennings, leave my sunny disposition and ability to make and hold friends to Carl Henry.
- Sloan Jobe, leave my extra eighteen inches to Thomas Wiles, so he can look imposing.
- I, Baxter Jones, leave my excess tonnage to Ed Petty and ourtney Rhea. There is plenty for both. Courtney Rhea.
- I, Geneva Keel, leave my studious nature to James Markham, provided he doesn't abuse it.
- I, Robbye Keel, leave my ability to understand after six explanations to Lambeth Lester.
- I, Mary Katherine Kelly, leave my petite figure to Dot Meadows, just to keep it in the D. G. D.
- I, John Ed Lay, leave whatever helped me finish college to Joe Collier.
- I, Alice McMahon, leave anything I have except Richard
- I, Dorothy Maxwell, leave a "Dot" to Dot Stanley who already has one.
- I, Kathryn Young, leave my chapel announcements to Mildred English.
- Drusilla Poole leaves us all wondering how she did so
- I, Edith Pope, leave my good nature to Erline England.
- I, Peggy Robinson, leave my place on the Student Council to Joe Kitchings who is just the type.
- I, Alyne Rutherford, leave my pretty teeth and hair to anyone who has false of the same.
- I, Minnie Lee Shores, leave my piano playing ability to Isabel Abegglen. Keep up the good work, Isabel.
- Lorene Springer, leave my tennis ability to Dickie Kirkpatrick so she may be a champion someday.
- I, Garland Tipps, leave one dozen enlarged and autographed photographs to my admirers.
- I, Elizabeth Tro to Virginia Blair. Elizabeth Troxler, leave my sweet and many smiles
- I, Harlon Watson, leave my nice manners (so rare to Martin boys) to Milo Wyatt.
- I, Mary Eleanor West, leave my most valued possession, my chewing gum, to Libby Topp. You will find it in the back left-hand corner of Mrs. Wright's room.
- I, Sarah Dene Westbrook, leave Robbye Lee to keep up the family reputation.
- I, Alma Ruth Wheeler, leave my loud voice to Martha Maas so she can be heard as well as seen.
- I, Edna Mae Wofford, leave my spic-and-span appearance to Margaret Smith.
- I, Carolyn Wagstaff, leave French Class reluctantly. (Oh Yeah.)
- I, Lila D. Moon, leave my make-up box and instructions for use to Mary Boddie Swaney. I, James Abernathy, very sorrowfully leave Virginia Blair.
- I, Anna June Meroney, leave ten pounds of notes taken during my college days to Tommy Daniel so he won't have to exert as much energy as he did this year.

ANNA JUNE MERONEY.

THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

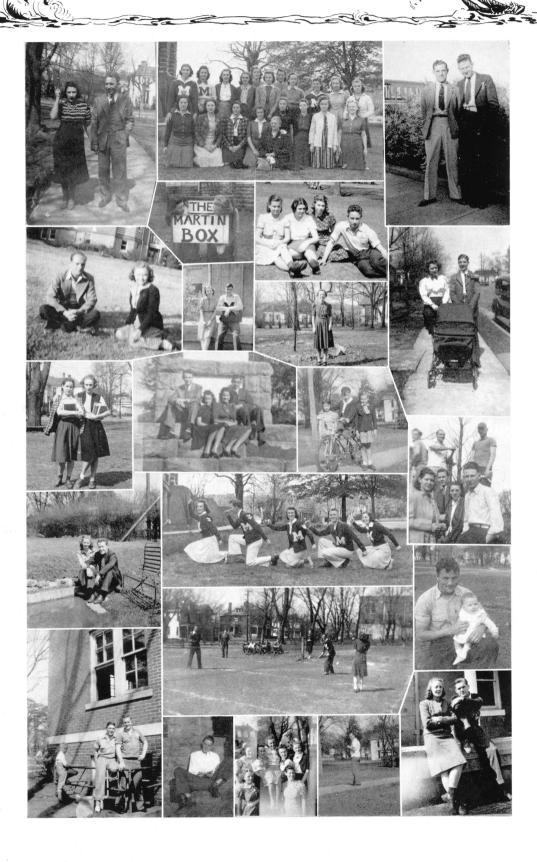

Top row—Mrs. Gussie Eubanks, teacher; Anita Pope, Robert Roe, Sonny Jones, Jimmy Ball, Micky Holland, Albert Morris, Mrs. Ada S. Wright, director of teacher training. Second row—Clyde Long, Jimmy Thomas, Mary Thomas, Geraldine Hardy, Robert A. Madry, June Allison, Duane Prindle. Bottom row—Suzanne Rogers, Barbara Woods, Ann Rutledge Ball, Charles Rich, Billy Henry, Julia Braly, Mrs. Grace N. McMahon, teacher.

The Elementary School as a training school for the department of education is an integral part of the college. Under the guidance of equipped supervisors, the students majoring in education receive their first experience in teaching while participating in the living and working of the children in this citizenship laboratory. The scope of service covers the elementary grades in all the activities of the modern school. The happy development of the children and the expressions of gratitude from our students who are now teachers in the field are very satisfying to Martin College.

Second row—Joe Forbes, Woodrow Johnson, Baxter Jones, Earl Perry, Harlon Watson, Wilbur Hooper. Others—Douglas Gunselman, Sloan Jobe, Garland Tipps, Randall Wofford.

History and Organization of the Christian Workers Association

The Christian Workers Association was organized by a group of ministerial and missionary students on January 25, 1940. The Rev. Wilbur Hooper was elected president, Miss Peggy Robinson was elected vice-president, and Rev. Harlon Watson, secretary and treasurer. Dr. Rudolph and Dr. Sanders were elected sponsors. At present the C. W. A. includes nineteen members.

The purpose of the C. W. A. is to provide opportunity for Christian fellowship, to stimulate interest in private devotion, to present programs which will increase knowledge of Christ's teachings as applied to our everyday life.

The organization has taken over the conduction of the Second Street Mission Church as an enterprise for the year and much has been accomplished.

KAPPA

THETA PHI

The Alpha Omega Chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa is a national honorary fraternity based on scholarship, character and personality. The present membership is the largest in the history of Martin College. Charles Stubblefield was president during the first and second quarters. He finished his course at the end of that time so Nancy Garner served to the remainder of the school year.

Purpose of "Y"

The "Y" is the students Christian organization on the campus. Its purpose is to further Christian fellowship among the student body; to lead in its inspirational and devotional activities; and to contribute to the social life of the college.

Activities of Past Year

Some of the various activities sponsored by the "Y" during the past year have been: the weekly devotions; the get-acquainted party and picnic during the first week of school entrance; the membership tea in honor of new members; stunt night, the proceeds of which were used for the Christmas tree for the more unfortunate colored children of Pulaski; the Valentine party where the King and Queen of Hearts were crowned; and the "Y" banquet held in April for all students and the faculty.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB

FRANCES FRATER — President
CATHERINE CHARLES — Vice-President
ANNA JUNE MERONEY — Secretary-Treasurer
MRS. CHARLES RICH — Adviser

The Dramatic Club, sponsored by Mrs. Floyd Gilbreath, has grown in the last few years to be one of the most progressive clubs on the campus.

The purpose of the club is to give its members practical experience in interpreting and producing fine plays, to promote interest in dramatic activities and to develop talent in students.

Members of the club have been given an opportunity for actual experience in stage makeup. During the year the following one-act plays have been given: Love and Lather by Kester, Pop Reads the Christmas Carol by Sergel, Evening Dress Indispensable by Pertwee and also two three-act plays: Skidding by Rouverol, and Spring Fever by Hughes.

For the third consecutive year the dramatic club won first place in the annual college stunt night for its dramatization of the story Ferdinand, The Bull.

DAY STUDENT CLUB

The $\pi\rho\omega\tau\epsilon$ $\rho\sigma$ Club with Dean Miles W. Woods as sponsor was organized February 1, 1940, with thirteen charter members and the following officers: Barbara Hagan, president; Libby Topp, vice-president; Anna June Meroney, secretary-treasurer; and James Abernathy, sergeant at arms.

The club is open to any Martin College day student, who is a resident of Giles County. The purpose of the club is to promote social, cultural, and educational ideas among its members and to gain recognition for day students on the college campus.

Opening the season with a 31-0 loss to Austin Peay Normal the Cardinals were never able to regain the form and confidence necessary to win as they went through a victoryless season.

They reached their peak in the S. T. C. Frosh game only to see Foster, Frosh fullback, crash over for the only score of the game. Traveling to Hiwassee for their next tilt they were again repulsed by 12-8, after seemingly icing the game with a safety to lead 8-6. Returning to the home gridiron for two frays they still were unable to win as they lost a 7-6 heartbreaker to the Union Frosh and tied 7-7 with Morgan Prep School.

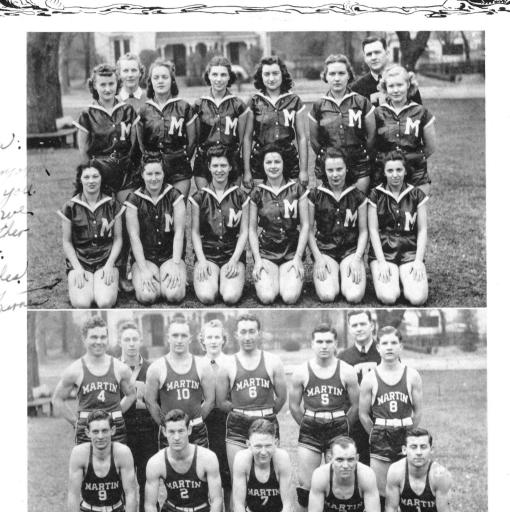

Finishing the season with games with C. M. A. and U. T. Junior Vols they were handed setbacks by scores of 21-0 and 26-0, respectively. Losing only three of the starting eleven the prospects for the coming season are much brighter than those entertained for the previous season.
